PEDRO SANTIAGO
SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

ABOUT ME

i'm Pedro Santiago, a seasoned web developer driven by my passion for coding, which ignited during my formative years. At just 15, I immersed myself in the world of programming, initially experimenting with game modifications and various other projects. Over the past two years, I've been enriching my academic journey, honing both my theoretical understanding and practical programming skills.

Alongside my studies, I've been an active participant in the freelancing community for the past five years. This invaluable experience has allowed me to apply and refine my coding prowess in real-world scenarios, collaborating closely with clients to actualize their visions.

While my core toolkit includes a range of technologies, tools, and libraries, I'm always eager to expand my skill set and embrace new challenges.
